General Comment

Please keep the new regulations concerning no co-pays for birth control measures in the rules. Unplanned pregnancies cost the nation, the mother and the children untold misery and wealth. Outdated religious thinking is killing us. Lets shed the fantasies of religion and key in on the realities around us that show starving children, children with no hope of furthering their status or education, teen mothers who drop out of school and/or burden their parents with bringing up not one, but two. Prayer does not seem to working here. Unwanted children and overpopulation are a toxic mix to the planet and ourselves.
